LINKEDIN DMS

YOUR DMS AREN'T TOO SALESY.

They're too early.

01

They asked one question

“Interesting, what do you do?” got an offer, a proof point, a link and a call request. Answers to questions nobody asked.

02

Buyers move through gates

Reality, relevance, fit, safety, value, identity. A DM feels salesy when it answers a gate they haven't reached.

THE DM EVERYONE IGNORES

Hey Jon, saw you're a founder.

We help founders get 10–20 qualified leads a month.

Open to a quick call this week?

PUSHY, HIDING OR TRUST-LED?

Two questions decide how your DMs land.

COMMERCIAL CLARITY →

PUSHY

Clear offer, way too early.

TRUST-LED

Clear and well timed. The goal.

SPAM

Vague and early.

HIDING

Patient, but never makes the offer.

MOVES AT THE BUYER'S PACE →

03

Read before you move

Ask what state they're in, which gate they're at and what risk they're protecting. Then make the smallest move.

Your next message should solve the buyer's uncertainty, not your anxiety.
